My 2013 ktm exc 500 has smoked on start up pretty good since day one for the first two to three minuets when cold then it stops. It has 100 miles on the odometer. I do not have the owners manual yet for the bike so I do not know if there is too much oil in the motor, but when I stand the bike upright the oil level is all the way to the top of the window.

Last year I worked on the the RE 500 EFI engine, and took a lesson from there . I've been stuck on this problem for around 25 days now, and I am trying to contact local KTM service center. Don't know if they would be of much help, because this engine is quite different when compared to KTM 200 and 390.
